Community Engagement Colloquia Series
Presents:
A Social Justice Model For Eliminating Health Disparities

Ujima Village:
Are We Our Brothers and Sisters Keepers?

The residents of South Los Angeles are intimately aware of how Social Injustice intertwines with poor health. Yet still, too many health programs and services struggle to make this link.

In this second program of a series, we will discuss broad-based environmental pollution in racial/ethnic minority communities in Los Angeles County and resultant community actions and mobilization efforts to challenge the status quo.

Presenters:

Paul Rosenfeld, PhD
Environmental Chemist, Soil Water Air Protection Enterprise (SWAPE)

mark! Lopez
Youth Organizer, Communities For A Better Environment

Moderated by:
Samuel J. Shacks, PhD, MD

Collaborators
Black Community Health Task Force

Accelerating Excellence in Translational Sciences (AXIS) Clinical and Translational Science Institute (CTSI) Division of Community Engagement

Event Details
Saturday, September 17, 2011
10am to 2pm
Keck Auditorium

Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science
1731 E. 120th Street
Los Angeles, CA 90059

Contact Information
RSVP to Cynthia Davis
(323) 563-9309
cynthiadavis@cdrewu.edu